A RAIL ROAD IN TURKEY .- On the fourth of last month was opened the first Turkish railway connecting Tehernavoda (Turkish Boghaskeni) on the Danube, and Kustedjie, on the coast of the Black Sea, a distance of | Alexandria, and vicinity that we have just opened about forty miles. By the old route these the largest and best selected stock of Dry Goods two points were 300 miles apart. Travelers by railway thus economise 260 miles, besides avoiding the many dangers attendant on the navigation of the Danube, and the delays so | Mouslins of all kinds, and as low as 10 cents per common at the Sulina mouth of that river .--The opening of this line, which is destined to stimulate the commercial activity of the region, was attended by many of the English directors of the undertaking, and the representatives of Turkey, Greece, Albania, Bul- and choice stock of Calicoes, direct from the garia and many sections of Tartary, whose Mills, which enables us to sell them at wholecostumes presented a very picturesque ap- sale prices. Though Ethem Pasha, who represented the Sultan on this occasion, took a warm interest in the success of the railway, it was evident that his suite were not very anxions to trust themselves to the tender | bles us to have new goods every week, and he bemercies of the snorting steam monster whose | ing an old experienced bayer for the Southern acquaintance they then made for the first market, affords us facilities to have goods best time; but a couple of unhappy sheep having been dragged forward and their throats cut, one on each of the rails over which the engine would pass, the Pacha's people consented, on the strength of this propitiatory offering, to accompany their chief into the carriages reserved for them, although their faith was sorely tried in the effort.

The people of Kustendjie did not share | tions to, a large and well selected stock of these terrors; but were so anxious to try the new mode of traveling that force was necessary to keep them out of the carriages. The trip went off most successfully; a grand luncheon, in the English style, awaited the guests grander dinner was provided for them on their return to Kustendjie, at the "New Railway Hotel," in the garden of which establishment a shed, handsomely decorated, had one hundred persons set down to this inter- | Plain Osnaburgs, Plaid Domestics, Checks, Marinational banquet, at which toasts were drunk to the health of Queen Victoria and the Turkish Sultan; the Pasha testifying the most cordial interest in the doings of the day, and expressing his hope that similar lines or communication would soon be opened in every part of Turkey.

A Poisoned Ring .- All visitors to Paris will have noticed the shops of bric-a-brac, on objects of curiosity and vertu, so numerous and tempting in that capital. At one of these establishments, and in the rue St. Honore, a gentleman was engaged, a few days ago, in examining an ancient ring for sale there, when he accidentally gave himself a slight scratch in the hand with a sharp part of it. He continued talking with the dealer for a short time, when he felt an indescribable numbness and torpor taking possession of him, and paralizing all his faculties, and soon became so ill that the people in the shop hastened to call in a physician. The doctor immediately declared that the gentleman had been poisoned by some powerful mineral substance, applied strong antidotes, and was fortunate enough to relieve the symptoms which had created so much alarm. man, who had spent some time in Venice, and who found that this old jewel was what is there called a "death-ring," a class of or-naments in frequent use in Italy during the seventeenth century, when the habit of poisening was all but universal.

Attached to the part of the ring intended to be worn inside the finger are two minute lion's claws, of the sharpest steel, and having clefts in them filled with a violent poison. In a ball or other crowded assembly, the cise revenge on any one present, would take the victim's hand, and when pressing it, ever so gently, the sharp claw would be sure to inflict a slight scratch on the skin, and the victim would be eqully sure to be dead before the next morning. Notwithstanding the length of time which must have elapsed since the poison was secreted in the ring in question, it was still powerful enough to cause great danger, as has been seen, to the gentleman who had so unwarily touched it. The sale by auction of the late Baron Humboldt's household goods in Berlin, produced between 9,000 and 10,000 thalers. The writing table at which he usually sat, and at which he wrote the "Kosmos," was knocked down at 150 thalers.

MISS CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.—The New York Express says: Many years ago, Miss Charlotte Cushing was doing, at the Park Theatre, in this city, what in stage parlance is called general utility-the work of three ordinary performers; filling the gap when any one was sick; playing Mr. Riching's parts if he was away, playing Mr. Chippendale's parts if he could not, or would not, do so: playing Mrs. Chippendale's parts on ocheld this position had as yet no position, to during the season. be proud of. One night, "Guy Mannering," a musical piece, was announced; it was produced for Mr. Braham, the great tenor, who played Harry Bertram. Mrs. Chippendale was cast for Meg Merrilles, but during the day was taken ill; so this obscure utility ac- cannot be surpassed. tress, this Miss Cushman, was sent for and told to be ready in the part by night. She might read it on the boards if she could not commit it. But the "utility woman" was not used to reading her parts; she learned it before nightfall, and played it after nightfall. She played it so as to be enthusiastically applauded, and so as to have Mr. Braham say to her, "I have performed in this piece with all the eleverest women who could be cast for Meg Merrilles, but you are the first who has manifested any appreciation of the character; you played it admirably." At this half day's notice, the part was taken up, which now is so famous among dramatic portraitures; and this sudden performance of the unknown utility woman, was the first step in that career which culminates now so splen-

A FORMIDABLE FORTRESS -Fort Monroe. (Old Point Comfort, Va.) is now said to be rendered one of the most formidable fortresses in the country. Its armament has been improved in many respects, and looks truly formidable. The number of guns mounted is no less than two hundred and eighty-five, which throw twelve thousand four hundred and seventeen pounds of iron. There are, besides these, 5 mortars and 10 siege howitzers. The new fort, commonly known as the Rip Raps, will, when perfectly completed, have one hundred and eighty-eight inch Columbiads, and 54 forty-two guns, all casemated; and eight ten-inch Columbiads, and forty-six nineinch ditto, all embarbelte. Nothing that could be done to perfect the ensemble of the battery has been neglected.
